No more sniffing drugs, chasing bad guys

By News-Ledger Staff

One of the most popular members of West Sacramento's police department has put in his last shift.

After over six years of service, police dog "Zar" has gone home to become a family dog in the home of his former handler, Sergeant Roger Kinney. Kinney was recently promoted from "Officer" to "Sergeant," and he will now move into a role supervising the W.S.P.D.'s supervisory unit.

Zar is a Dutch shepherd. He's a former rescue dog — unusual in his line of work — and has participated in around 200 searches and succeeded in finding drugs about 50 times, reports Kinney. When he "has a good day" by finding drugs during a search, Zar been rewarded with a "Six Dollar Burger" from Carl's Junior.

The News-Ledger's Eric Harding rode along with Kinney and Zar on their last shift together on West Sacramento's streets on Friday night.

Kinney and Zar have been through a lot together. Remember that one-man crime spree that closed the Yolo Causeway for several hours in April, 2012? The gunman put a bullet hole in their car — but the shot missed Zar and Kinney.

And Zar is also popular on the school circuit: he's won a legion of young fans by visiting local schools and interacting with local kids.

The News-Ledger has reported on Zar several times in recent years. There's a very brief video of the dog in a training exercise on WestSac.com, at <http://www.westsac.com/blog/2011/12/06/video-west-sac-police-dog-zar-in-action/>

'Zar' the police dog with his human partner, Officer Roger Kinney, respond to a call Friday night. It was the dog's final shift.

The K9 unit of Officer Kinney and Zar joins officers in answering a report of a man "brandishing a machete." The officers came to believe the report was unfounded.

Officer Kinney with Zar -- known by sight to hundreds of schoolchildren in West Sacramento. Zar has been a popular ambassador from the W.S.P.D. to local schools. Now, he's living a life of leisure as a "family dog."

Fraternity memories are varied -- and colorful

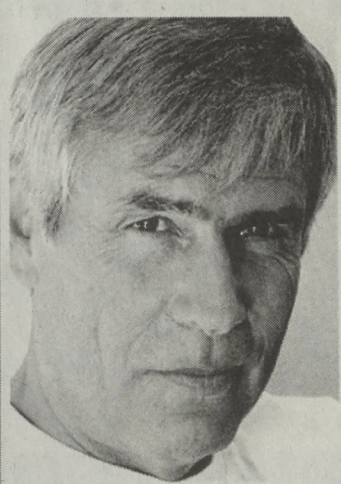

Last week, John Domasky and Craig Pichinino, a couple of my college fraternity brothers who also grew up in West Sacramento, invited me to join them at a golf course down around Stockton to play a friendly round of golf. It turns out that about a dozen of my old Phi Beta Chi fraternity brothers get together once each month (weather permitting) to chase little white balls around on different courses all over the Sacramento area. And not only was the golfing enjoyable, but it was also great fun to see so many of my old friends again and stroll down memory lane with them as we recalled what it was like way back in the late 1960s when we were all "young and unafraid." Anyway, as I drove home after shooting a score I'm too embarrassed to put in print, I found myself thinking of the following column, penned way back when my daughter was just starting her college days in the early 1990s:

Like most college freshmen, my daughter is quickly discovering that the classroom is not necessarily the best place to meet interesting people and make new friends.

"Everybody is pretty focused on their studies when they're in class," she explained to me the other day. "Not too much socializing takes place."

"Good!" I said, wanting my daughter to concentrate on getting good grades, something I never managed to do when I was her age.

My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

"How did you go about meeting people when you were in college, Dad?"

"Well, I joined a fraternity."

"Really?" she said, wrinkling up her nose as she often does when she disapproves of my outdated view of things. "Dad, nobody does that anymore."

"Oh," I said, unaware as usual that yet another aspect of the real world had passed me by.

"I think I'm going to join some of these student clubs," she said, handing me a lengthy list of campus organizations.

"Which ones?" I asked as I scanned the piece of paper.

"The Young Democrats, the Environmental Students Organization, and the Marine Mammals Support Group."

"Really?" I said, thankful that she had at least passed on the Turtle Island Student Alliance and the Frisbee Club.

"I just can't believe you were in a fraternity, Dad."

"Actually, it was a lot of fun."

"But those are sexist organizations. It wasn't one of those Animal House-type places where everyone was always drinking and acting stupid, was it?"

"Of course not!" I lied.

Later that evening, as I took the family dog for his walk, I let my mind wander back to those long ago days when I was a proud member of Phi Beta Chi. It was 1967 and our frat-house was located in downtown Sacramento at 26th and Q streets. The best way to describe the place was that it looked a lot like one of those old decrepit Victorians you can see from time to time in an Alfred Hitchcock haunted-house movie. We were an off campus organization, which means there weren't a whole lot of rules, and we had about forty-five members, many of them from West Sacramento.

Anyway, as I strolled along, I was surprised at how vivid and entertaining some of those ancient fraternity memories still were. For instance, there was my first Kidnap Weekend as a pledge, when a bunch of brothers suddenly surrounded my car, dragged me out of it before I could get all the doors locked, and blindfolded me. The next thing I knew I was being unceremoniously dropped off on a deserted dirt road somewhere up in the foothills and told, "If I was you, I'd stay away from any farm house you might run across. A lot of those places have big vicious dogs guarding them, and at this time of night, the owners also have a tendency to shoot anything that moves." It was the next morning before I finally reached civilization again.

And then there was the weekend when all of us pledges were required to attend a big party at the fraternity house. We were told we had to get dates, and that if we couldn't, we would no longer be considered Phi Beta Chi material. Then, on the day of the party, we were also informed that when we went to pick up our dates (and this had to be kept a deep, dark secret from them), we had to be dressed up like a girl ourselves, and this was to include makeup, high heels, a mini-skirt, a wig (preferably blond) and, well, everything else.

Shortly after that came Hell Weekend, where we were required to go on a scavenger hunt and collect everything from a male duck from a pond in William Land Park (they absolutely hate gender examinations) to a license plate from a local police vehicle. If you survived all of that, then there was the infamous marshmallow race, which required all the contestants to remove their clothes, grab a marshmallow off the ground with the cheeks of their bare butt and waddle to the finish line, being told the whole time that the loser of the race was required to eat all the marshmallows.

And before my walk had finished, I had also spent quite a bit of time recalling with a smile the many all-night poker games, the fun-filled fraternity/sorority mixers we were always having, and even the group-visits to a rundown strip joint in what is now Old Town Sacramento to watch an incredibly limber woman named "Apache" do her thing.

"You know, Dad," my daughter told me the next morning at breakfast, "maybe I was being too closed-minded yesterday."

"About what?" I asked with interest.

"You know, about fraternities and sororities. I hear they get together and have some really fun parties. Maybe I should go ahead and look into joining a sorority after all?"

"Don't you even think about it!"

PG&E warns of email scam

Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) reports having learned of an email scam targeting residents across the United States. The utility has received calls from people, both within its service area and outside of it, reporting that they have received suspicious emails that appeared to be bills sent by PG&E. This is similar to email and phone scams that have been happening recently throughout the country involving several utilities. "It's unacceptable that someone is trying to take advantage of our customers and others," said Helen Burt, senior vice president and Chief Customer Officer for PG&E, in a press release. "We take our customers' security very seriously and under no circumstances would we email anyone to request that they provide personal information without first logging into 'My Energy' or calling us."

If you receive one of these emails asking for information about your account, PG&E advises that you:

- DO NOT respond to the request
- DO NOT click on any links in the email
- DO NOT open any attachments
- DO NOT provide any personal information
- Report these contacts to CorporateSecurity@pge.com

PG&E offers the following tips to help protect customers from potential scams:

- PG&E's Credit Department will not ask for personal information or a credit card number over the phone. Anyone who has received such a phone call and provided credit card or checking account information should report it immediately to the credit card company or bank and law enforcement.
- Customers with concerns about the legitimacy of a call about a past due bill, service request or request for personal information are encouraged to call PG&E at 1-800-743-5000.
- Customers should always ask to see identification before allowing anyone claiming to be a PG&E representative inside their home. PG&E employees always carry their identification and are willing to show it to you.
- If a person claiming to be a PG&E employee has identification and you still feel uncomfortable, call PG&E's customer service line at 1-800-743-5000 to verify an appointment and/or PG&E's presence in the community. If you feel threatened in any way, notify local law enforcement immediately.

Customers who have an appointment with PG&E will receive an automated call back within 48 hours prior to a scheduled visit, or a personal call from a PG&E gas service representative prior to a scheduled visit.

presented Joan with an opportunity to lease a Kristoff family property on Jefferson, she told the News-Ledger. (Kristoff is now the longest-serving member of the West Sacramento City Council.) The property on Jefferson had been a bar before. Joan's fiancé encouraged her to take the plunge, reasoning that she had to diversify from just dealing in real estate.

As Joan puts it: "Shabam! I'm owner of a bar!"

Almost as surprising to her was the reception she first met.

"It was so busy initially when I first got there," she recalls. "It was standing room only. We would cash $20,000 in paychecks on a slow Friday night. After I cashed those I would go to the bank, swap the checks out, and cash another $20,000."

Less hectic was the steady weekday crowd, often coming in after work.

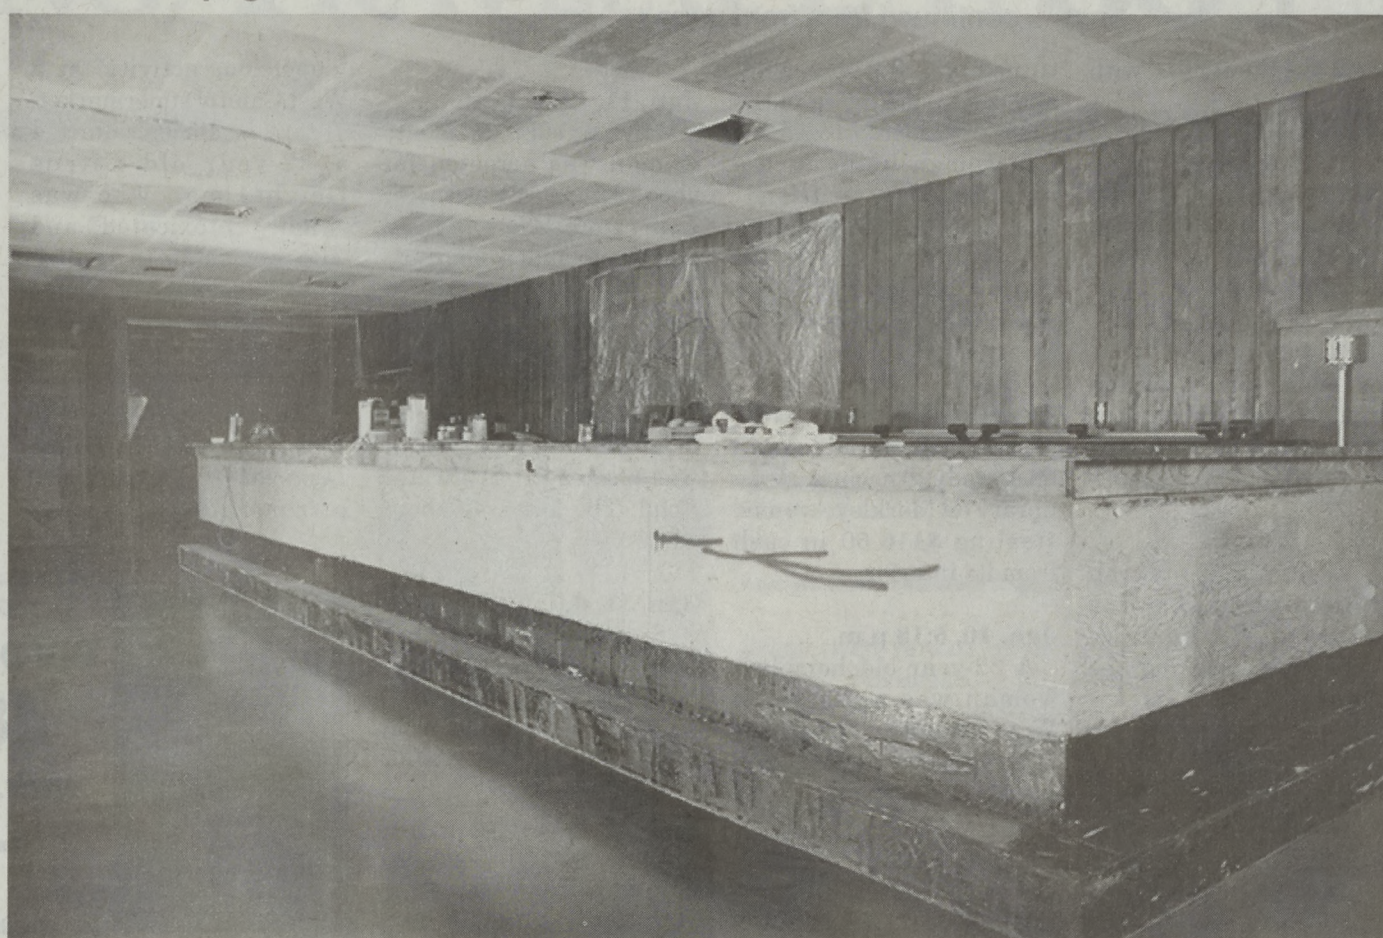

Many employees from nearby businesses wound up at The Sail Inn after their shifts ended. A steady stream came from workplaces like Tony's Meat and Cheese, Tecon Pacific (now Clark Pacific), Weyerhaeuser, the Port, the Post Office, and the Rice Growers Association.

Joan said the customer base changed later as Southport developed.

"You now have the 'bedroom community' crowd versus the 'after work' crowd," she recalled.

But business was always good in the early years and Joan was proud of the "Sail." She wanted the establishment to be known first as a good place to eat, not just as a bar.

For many the Sail Inn was their place to go, their West

Sacramento version of the fictional Boston "Cheers" bar.

Dan Cordes remembers: "It was so comfortable for me that I could pass out after closing and sleep on top of the bar. Hanging out with Darren the bartender was great. Just the camaraderie of it all. A place to let go and just relax with friends."

The Sail even made an impression on those who couldn't go in. Paul Choate recalls passing by many times as a youth.

"I worked at Club Pheasant in 1977 and remember Jefferson Boulevard as a rural road: all but empty except for fields and Warehouses," said Choate. "I was too young to stop at the Sail Inn then, but marveled at the boat on the roof!"

After the business closed, Washburn left to go scuba diving in Monterey. Joan spent ten days in the water, diving and relaxing. She says she is now ready to move on.

What's next for her? Washburn owns the vacant property next to the Sail Inn, so a nursery might be possible if issues with the city and neighbors were worked out. But she is most interested in becoming a writer.

"Writing books," she says. "That's always what I thought I'd be doing in this phase of my life -- writing books. Right now, though, I am still just trying to sit in a room with people and not say 'What can I get you?'"

Paul Choate sums it up: "It's sad that fun places like the Sail Inn are dying out. The Sail Inn was home to generations of local flotsam and jetsam from West Sac. All were welcome, the food was plentiful and cheap, as was the alcohol and entertainment. The closing of this homespun icon marks a change for the new West Sacramento of urban developments and big box malls. Hopefully West Sacramento will make room for more local businesses with flavor and style like the Sail Inn had."

Choate may yet get some of what he misses. As the News-Ledger paid a visit on the old building along Jefferson last week, Archie Morse was on the site, getting it ready for a rebirth. Decades of grit had been scoured from the floor, and the kitchen was being readied for expansion and upgrades.

The Sail Inn is being readied for a new life -- as a bar and an eatery with fish and other pub fare on the menu -- by new owners.

Morse said he is the property owner and will be the primary owner of the new iteration of the "Sail Inn." He'll be working with the owners of Sacramento's "Shady Lady," who'll be handling the day-to-day workings of the Sail Inn.

"A dive bar was what it was," he said of the former Sail Inn. "What it's going to be is a clean restaurant and bar. It's going to be more in the vein of 'Shady Lady.' That has a 1920s Prohibition feel to it, and this will be more of a clean 'fish house.'"

He hopes to open "within the next couple of months."

Seasonal jobs open up for hiring at Raley Field

The Sacramento River Cats announced Monday they are hiring for 150-200 seasonal positions in the upcoming 2014 baseball season at Raley Field.

The club—which is entering its 15th season in Sacramento—is hiring clean team members, emergency medical technicians, ushers, "Kids Corner" representatives, Merlino's Freeze workers, and several other seasonal positions. In addition to the seasonal positions, the River Cats are also looking to fill full-time positions in several departments including ticket sales and corporate partnerships.

The first River Cats home game of the season is set for Friday, April 11, at 7:05 p.m. when the Salt Lake Bees—Triple-A affiliate of the Los Angeles Angels of Anaheim—come to town.

Those interested in applying are asked to visit www.rivercats.com for more information.

WATER: City wants you to cut 20% from page 1 cent, to help leave water in local reservoirs.

Reports the City: "Landscape irrigation typically accounts for about 70 percent of total water use. During the winter months, landscapes need very little water, making this an easy time of the year to conserve water. The winter is also a prime time to inspect, repair and replace indoor plumbing pipes and fixtures."

Specific ideas to start saving water:

Outdoor Tips

- Only irrigate your landscaping as needed.
- Use a broom instead of a hose to clean driveways, sidewalks and patios.
- Repair leaks and broken sprinkler heads.
- Adjust sprinklers to avoid overspray and runoff.
- Use an automatic shut-off nozzle on your hose.
- Reduce each irrigation cycle by two minutes.
- Install a water-efficient drip irrigation system for your trees, shrubs and flowers.
- Install a WaterSense-labeled, "Smart" irrigation controller that adjusts watering based upon weather, soil type, plant type and sun exposure (such as full sun or part shade).

Indoor Tips

- Take 5 minute showers instead of 10 minute showers.
- Turn off water when brushing teeth or shaving.
- Wash only full loads of clothes and only run the dishwasher when it's full.
- Fix leaky faucets and toilets.
- Install aerators on the kitchen faucet to reduce flows to less than 1.5 gallons per minute.
- Install efficient, WaterSense-labeled shower heads.

--Install a high-efficiency WaterSense-labeled toilet (1.28 gallons per flush).

--Install aerators on bathroom faucets.

POLICE LOG

"As officers were searching the area, the 12-year old child ran to officers, crying, and advised that (the subject) was lying down on the railroad tracks trying to conceal himself," reported an officer. "As officers began to check the railroad tracks, the Sacramento Police helicopter located (him) on the tracks."

They called to the suspect, but he fled. The helicopter kept him in its spotlight as he ran over fences into a West Capitol Avenue trailer park, ending up in a carport in the north side of the park.

Police ordered him at least five times to put his hands up, but the suspect kept walking toward one of the units. An officer grabbed his hand and took him to the ground on his belly, placing a knee on the suspect's back for control. The man was placed under arrest for "resisting," and his parole agent issued a "hold" for him.

Jan. 8, 9:05 a.m.

A bar on the 2100-block of West Capitol reported a burglary. Gone were a cash register and liquor, for a loss of around $1,250.

Jan. 8, 2:30 p.m.

Loss prevention officers at a Riverpoint Court store detained a 62-year old West Capitol man for shoplifting. Police arrested him and released him with a "notice to appear" in court.

Jan. 8, 11:10 p.m.

About five hours earlier, a 49-year old man had grabbed a microwave from a store on the 1200-block of West Capitol, getting into the passenger seat of a waiting gold Acura and making his getaway.

Then, at 6:47 p.m., a police officer stopped an Acura for a traffic violation. The theft suspect was in the passenger seat. The driver, a 25-year old man from F Street, told the officer that they had just come from a store on Riverpoint Court.

Police then reviewed the surveillance video at the Riverpoint Court store, and saw that about eight minutes before the traffic stop, the driver had pushed a shopping cart out of the store, taking $34.47 worth of goods (including diapers) without paying. The driver was arrested (possibly, so was the suspected microwave thief riding with him).

Jan. 9, 1:15 p.m.

A 57-year old Diablo Street man was arrested at his residence for having "heroin for sale."

Jan. 9, 1:20 p.m.

Someone stole a laptop computer from a business on the 800-block of Harbor Boulevard in a burglary.

Jan. 9, 1:30 p.m.

A 46-year old man on 19th Street reported having interrupted the burglary of his vehicle parked in the driveway.

Jan. 9, 2:05 p.m.

A Cummins Way residence was found burglarized. Missing were an iPod and a piggy bank – for a loss of around $400.

Jan. 9, 9:45 a.m.

Officers conducted a parole search at a home on Maple Street. They arrested a 30-year old woman for possession of methamphetamine and hydrocodone "for sale." (Often, an intent to sell is presumed if substantial quantities of an illegal drug are found on hand.)

Jan. 9, 4:06 p.m.

A West Capitol supermarket reported that some suspects had tried to grab store keys kept behind a counter, in order to get into some locked merchandise cabinets.

The store said the same suspects had been seen in video committing just such a theft at a sister store in Sacramento.

Jan. 10

A woman reported her Sacramento Avenue mobile home had been burglarized, for a loss of about $1,100. She also said there was an "abnormal" odor of alcohol in the home when she returned.

Responding police found stolen property next to the fence along Sacramento Avenue.

Meanwhile, police performed a probation search at another trailer in a park across the street. A man living there was on probation for car theft. He wasn't at the scene, but there were two women sitting out front, and one said she was his girlfriend.

A search of that unit turned up a flat screen TV and cell phone taken in the theft across the street.

A woman living in the unit said the "girlfriend" had carried the TV into her bedroom "and asked if she could leave it in her room." The "girlfriend" was arrested.

Jan. 10

Someone managed to open up a vending machine at the library on Merkley Avenue, stealing $116.50 in cash from its interior.

Jan. 10, 5:18 p.m.

A 32-year old homeless woman was arrested on West Capitol for possessing methamphetamine and drug paraphernalia.

Jan. 10, 6 p.m.

Two women entered a West Capitol Avenue supermarket and tried to steal some merchandise. They fled without the goods, but one of them "used force" during the crime.

At least one of the suspects was ID'd.

Jan. 11, 6:45 a.m.

A 34-year old woman said she was assaulted and her purse was stolen in a parking lot on Stillwater Road. But she refused to give any information about the suspect.

Jan. 11, 12:25 p.m.

A 30-year old Sacramento woman was arrested for shoplifting at a Riverpoint Court store. She was given a notice to appear in court.

Jan. 11, 6 p.m.

A Santa Rosa woman reported that someone stole the catalytic converter from her vehicle while it was parked on Stillwater Road. The loss was about $1,000.

Jan. 11, 6 p.m.

Someone entered a Webster Street garage, stealing $2,500 in power tools and equipment from a repair man.

"suspicious activity" at a West Capitol supermarket. There, an officer contacted a 32-year old Citrus Heights man who was "highly intoxicated" and "did not seem to realize what was going on."

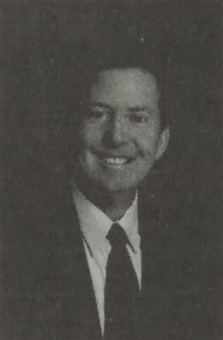

The man was arrested for public drunkenness.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The West Sacramento Police Department is undergoing a transition in its data management. Because of this, we currently have access to many of the department's arrest reports, but not to the logs of calls for service and reports of crime.

Responding to an inquiry from the News-Ledger, a spokesman said the department hopes for a solution in early 2014.

We hope to again be able to search through more material when compiling this weekly log.

STRONG MOVEMENT FOR BETTER AND MORE CO-OPERATIVE EFFORT AT ADVANCEMENT IN WEST SACRAMENTO

At a largely attended meeting of the members of the Improvement Club of Reclamation District No. 900 Thursday night more enthusiasm and more interest were displayed than at any previous meeting.

The reclamation trustees held a regular meeting in another part of the headquarters building and took important steps to help the district out of the hole in which it has been laboring for some time.

Committees that had been appointed at a previous meeting turned in their reports and in each case progress was reported.

G. M. Jones presided at the meeting of the improvement club. He congratulated the people on the extension of the telephone service throughout the district and J. Peltier promised that the best efforts of the bond holders would be used to secure for users an extension of a power line to every farm in West Sacramento.

To help in this matter a committee was named consisting of T. Payne, F. E. Miller, A. N. Jongeneel and B. Merkle.

This committee will interview users in the district and show the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. the probable amount of usage that may follow.

H. K. Knight of Alaska Packers Association was present and stated his corporation was willing to do everything in its power to assist the landowners in the district with improvements that they could secure. J. Peltier promised development.

so that the district could be made inviting to investors.

Deeds can now be given by bond holders committee and the very best people will be invited to invest.

Steps will be taken to rectify the erosion of the right bank of the river through wing dams.

All those wing dams that have been built are on the Sacramento side thus throwing the current of the stream to the right bank.

Mr. Peltier reported that reclamation warrants out against the district amount to about $80,000.

A resolution was passed Thursday postponing the next assessments for bonds in the amount of $76,000 for another year, or to the end of the bond period, namely, 1941. As it is now two bond issues are covered yearly in amounts of $57,000 in the new issue, and $19,000 in the old issue.

Outstanding warrants in the amount of about $80,000 are to be paid this year instead of the bond redemption and following that the district will be placed on a cash basis in so far as business transactions are concerned.

At this writing outstanding warrants are drawing interest in the amount of 7 per cent, while bonds only draw 6 per cent.

On account of inflation in bids, work and materials are costing the trustees about 25 per cent additional at the present time because dealers and labor charge more on account of delays in payments.

TOUGH CHARACTERS ARE DRIVEN OUT OF SACRAMENTO TO INFEST YOLO

An item taken from one of the daily papers in Sacramento last Tuesday goes to show what this paper has often claimed, that tough characters and drug addicts are driven out of the capital city under suspended sentences and immediately cross one of the bridges to this side of the river.

This complaint has often been made not only by this paper but by Yolo County authorities.

The result is that the Woodland jail is crowded and a great deal of odium is being thrown on this section of Yolo County because nearly all the drug addicts and tough characters are picked up in this district.

The item referred to reads: Thomas Reeves begged Robert Fraker of Del Paso Heights for a quarter last night. Fraker refused the request, whereupon, he charged, Reeves "strongarmed" him and was in the act of committing a robbery when Patrolmen F. Madsen and J. F. Pierini arrived.

In the police court today Reeves, George McCrea, Harold J. Dowd and Charles Lake, all of whom the police say were suspected of using "strongarm" methods in the lower end of the city to obtain funds, were sentenced to terms of six months each in the county jail on conviction of vagrancy. Judge Anderson agreed to suspend the sentence if the men would leave Sacramento at once and stay away for at least two years. They promised and were released.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

The Sacramento river registered six feet 10 inches. U. S. gauge at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday. This is the highest gauge registered during the present winter and the rain of last Saturday and Sunday means that farmers of the West Sacramento district, the Holland district and in fact every section of Yolo county are greatly benefitted. Yesterday C. Parelli a prominent farmer of West Sacramento told the Independent that he had been plowing grain land to a depth of 14 inches and that the surface moisture had made connection with the underground moisture that is naturally in the ground in his district. Even should no more rain fall this season the farmers of the West Sacramento district and the Holland district as assured of plentiful crops even with the small amount of rain that has already fallen this year.

Aided by the Sacramento police Constable Buckingham has left no stone unturned to locate the guilty man, but so far has been unable to find him.

It would seem that he had deliberately planned the crime and after his commission married another in the belief that by so doing he would secure protection for himself.

Sacramento officers believe that he has already left the state and that nothing further will be heard of him.

short time was in spasms in which he died.

Constable Buckingham had his remains taken to Woodland where an inquest was held by Coroner Wilson and where an effort was made to reach relatives who are believed to be in Eastern states.

A large abscess on the man's right arm showed indications that it had been the result of an injection of some kind of drug. Coagulated blood was found in the wound of the abscess and whether this was the immediate cause of his death or whether a reaction set in from the use of the soda could not be ascertained before the remains were removed by the county coroner.

He was unknown at this side of the river and was known only to a chum as Shorty although he measured nearly six feet in height.

LOCAL MAN CLAIMS HE WAS STABBED BY ASSASSIN IN THE YARD FRONTING HIS HOME

Stabbed by a man whom he claimed to be an "assassin" hired by an enemy Settino Lorenzini, aged 28, living at 303 C street, was taken to the Sacramento emergency hospital Thursday in a serious condition.

After his wound was treated by Dr. Timothy Lyman he was removed to the Sutter Hospital and turned over to the care of Dr. Frederick N. Scatena.

Detective Sergeant Thomas Pearson, who investigated the case, stated Lorenzini had identified his assailant. Lorenzini, in a lengthy statement to Pearson, stated that he had never had any trouble with the man, but incurred the enmity of another resident of Broderick.

The stabbing occurred shortly after 8 o'clock, Lorenzini said. He declared that he was sitting in the front room of his home when he heard a knock at the door. He stepped out to the front yard and saw a man standing in the shadows.

The visitor stepped toward Lorenzini, drew a knife and plunged it into his abdomen. As the wounded man fell to the ground the assailant fled. Lorenzini was picked up by relatives and rushed to the Sacramento emergency hospital. His wound was pronounced serious by the physicians who attended him.

Taken into custody at the Roma Hotel, Sacramento, shortly after he had come down from his room for breakfast, Daniel Buckfenk, 50 years of age, was confronted with the charge of having stabbed Settino Lorenzini, young Broderick resident, last night.

Buckfenk was arrested by Constable Henry Buckingham, who took the prisoner to the Yolo county jail Friday afternoon.

Denying that he was hired as an "assassin," Buckfenk told the authorities that he was the defender and not the aggressor in the attack. He blamed Settino Lorenzini, his victim, for the trouble.

The prisoner's story is that he went to Lorenzini's house for wine late Thursday afternoon. A woman at the house ordered him away and said that Lorenzini would "get him," according to Buckfenk.

Then in the evening, Buckfenk went to a neighbor's house and there claims to have observed Lorenzini crouched down behind a bush. Buckfenk turned a flashlight on him. Lorenzini, the prisoner claims, slugged him first and then flashed a revolver. Buckfenk then pulled out his knife, which he admits was open, and stabbed Lorenzini. The arrested man says he is a shepherd.

The injured man was removed to the Sutter hospital, where an operation was performed. The surgeons said yesterday that while Lorenzini's condition is serious, there was every hope that he will survive unless unexpected complications set in.

In his statement to the police, Lorenzini said he identified his assailant as a man with whom he had never had trouble. He expressed the belief that the man had been employed by another person to assassinate him.

Buckfenk in jail in Woodland says Lorenzini shoved a gun in his face and first struck him on the jaw. He admits the stabbing.

Miss Michelena DePrato has returned from San Francisco where she spent a week with friends and relatives. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Tosca Petri.

A. A. Powers probation agent of Yolo county, with headquarters in Woodland, was a visitor in Washington on official business.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Arey, residents of Oakland, returned to their home following a few days' visit at the home of Mrs. Frank DeRiso of Washington.

Mrs. Esther Newton has returned to her home in Washington following a short visit with friends and relatives in San Francisco, Alameda and other bay points.

LARGE ACREAGE OF BEETS BEING PLANTED IN HOLLAND DISTRICT

Sugar beet growing in the Holland district along the lines of the San Francisco and Sacramento railroad, has proved so successful that a fifty per cent greater acreage will be planted this year. This announcement was made at the traffic office of the short line in Oakland today. It was reported that one farmer near Lisbon who had grown 300 acres last year, would plant 450 this spring.

Practically the entire crop is sent to the sugar mills at Salinas and Alvarado for manufacture into beet sugar. All of the beets from the new district were rich in sugar percentage and the crop averaged nineteen tons to the acre.

Because of a new conveyor belt loading device, first put into use last season, the crop was handled at a minimum expense to both grower and railroad. The new loading device was originated by the engineering department of the railroad company.

PETITION FOR RURAL FREE DELIVERY CIRCULATED IN WEST SACRAMENTO

Under the direction of Postmaster A. F. Turner of West Sacramento a petition asking the post office authorities for free rural delivery has been circulated and signed by F. E. Miller and C. P. Williams.

Every resident of the District signed the petition and indications go to show that the free delivery will be established provided roads possible of being used during the winter season can be found available for the purpose.

A similar petition was circulated from the Washington postoffice about two years ago but the request was turned down on account of the condition of the roads in that district during the winter season.

The postoffice authorities demand that a road forming a circle be available so that the carrier may not traverse any part of one road twice in the same day.

This is possible in the West Sacramento district at the present writing because the levee road would make it possible for a carrier to return to headquarters after he had traversed the paved roads lately built in the West Sacramento district.

Postmaster Turner is working through the Sacramento postoffice and has the support and backing of Post Master McCurry.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION

An examination for the position of teacher (shoe repairing) will be held at the post office in this city on February 29, 1924.

For application blanks, and for full information relative to the examination, qualifications, duties, salaries, etc., address Secretary, Board of Civil Service Examiners, Post Office, Sacramento.

VOTERS ARE BEING REGISTERED HERE BY BUCKINGHAM

During this year a new and complete registration of voters will have to be made by every citizen of the state of California.

Every two years the great register is re-made and all citizens must register in order to vote at the elections to be held during the two years.

Indications in Woodland go to show that the registration in Yolo county will be predominantly Republican this year as it has been in many years past yet in nearly every instance the Democratic vote prevails at the election.

Constable Buckingham has already registered several local citizens but as this is the first announcement made in this district he expects to register a great many more within the next few days.

The primary election for president will take place in May and following that there will be several more elections during the year.

DANGER LURKS IN THE SODA BOTTLE AS WELL AS THE JACKASS GLASS

An unknown, a drug addict died last Tuesday night in the camp grounds near the M street bridge without leaving any account of his relatives, friends, or family connections.

He had just been drinking from a soda water bottle which a chum of his said contained nothing but soda water. After using half of the soda in the bottle he was taken sick and in a

If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. Energy upgrades

An alternative financing program is available for property owners who wish to upgrade their heating and air conditioning systems, solar systems, roofs, windows and other systems. The "PACE" program offered by Ygrene Energy Fund is now available in Yolo County.

The program offers 100 percent financing to projects on properties that have at least 15 percent equity, and is available for both homeowners and commercial projects. The financing is bound to the property rather than the individual or business on it, and transfers with the property to a new owner like a property tax.

Visit www.CleanEnergyYolo. Using the promo code "UPGRADEYOLO" will earn a savings on the $50 application fee.

Library + museums

Your Yolo County library card can earn you free and low-cost passes to Northern California museums through the "Discover & Go" program. Visit www.discover.yolocountylibrary.org.

Kids' theater

Fairytale Theater comes to the Black Box Theater in the West Sacramento Community Center (1075 West Capitol Avenue) through the holidays.

View "Peggy the Pint-Size Pirate" and see if the pirates can keep Peggy from becoming one of them because she's too small, and see how she fairs against the evil sea monster. Final performance is noon on Saturday, Jan. 18.

Tickets are $5 from www.westsacfun.org, or from the community center in advance. Tickets will be available at the door if they're still available.

'Blind date' with a book

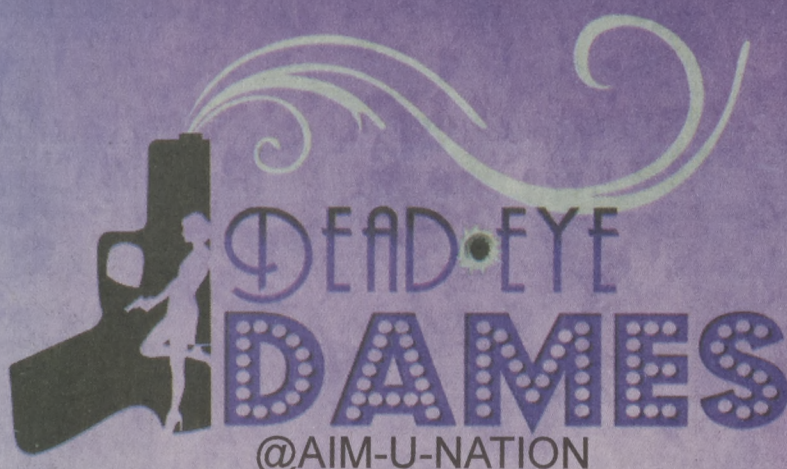

The local library branch invites you to take a chance. Try a "blind date" with a book: there are a number of titles wrapped mysteriously in brown paper, so you can check one out and take it home to find out what you have. The library is at 1212 Merkley Avenue.
